SECTION - A

- Read the following passage and select the appropriate answers. [3]

The great prose-writers of the world may not admit it, but my conviction grows stronger day after day that prose writing is not and cannot be the true pursuit of a genius. It is for the patient, persistent, persevering drudge with a heart so shrunken that nothing can break it; rejection slips don't mean a thing to him; he at once sets about making a fresh copy of the long prose piece and sends it on to another editor enclosing postage for the return of the manuscript. It was for such people that The Hindu had published a tiny announcement in an insignificant corner of an unimportant page – a short story contest organised by a British periodical by the name The Encounter.

Tradition. In Miss Ralston's class the boys have always carried the water bucket. Until one day, the girls decide its time to challenge the rule.

The last hour of school on Friday afternoons was for junior Red Cross. The little kids would get out their Junior Red Cross pins and put them on and we big kids would start elbowing down the aisles to the book cupboard at the back to see who would get the interesting magazines. There was a big pile of them and they were of two kinds : The National Geographic and the Junior Red Cross News. Apart from the magazines for the big kids and may be the teacher reading a story to the little kids, about the only other thing that happened regularly during Red Cross was picking the two boys who would carry water the next week.

Questions :

- 47) What is the tradition in Miss Ralston's class?
- 48) What did the big kids do on last Friday?
- 49) Which were the two kinds of books available?
- 50) What was the other thing that happened on Fridays?
- 51) Suggest a title to the paragraph.

52) Paraphrase the following poem :

[5]

We quickened our pace more and more as the time sped by.

The Sun rose to the mid sky and doves cooed in the shade.

Withered leaves danced and whirled in the hot air of noon.

The shepherd boy drowsed and dreamed in the shadow of the banyan tree.

and I laid myself down by the water and stretched my tired limbs on the grass.

My companions laughed at me in scorn ;

they held their heads high and hurried on ;

they never looked back nor rested;

they vanished in the distant blue haze.

53) Study the following chart and interpret it in six to seven sentences.

Read the following passage and prepare notes for the same.

We don't want to help one another. Human beings are like that. We want to live by each other's happiness, not by each other's misery. We don't want to hate and despise one another. In this world there is room for everyone.

And the good earth is rich and can provide for everyone. The way of life can be free and beautiful, but we have lost the way.

Greed has poisoned men's souls; has barricaded the world with hate; has goose-stepped us into misery and bloodshed. We have developed speed, but we have shut ourselves in. Machinery that gives abundance, has left us in want. Our knowledge has made us cynical; our cleverness, hard and unkind.

We think too much and feel too little. More than machinery, we need humanity. More than cleverness, we need kindness and gentleness.

Without these qualities, life will be violent and all will be lost. The aeroplane and the radio have brought us closer together. The very nature of these inventions cries out for the goodness in man ; cries out for universal brotherhood; for the unity of us all.
