SECTION - A

(Reading Comprehension)

Q.(1-7) Read the following passage given below.

My parents were truly proud of me. It was through me that they had earned a greater degree of admiration and respect from the villagers. My father would not like to see me carrying a trunk on my back and would be very hurt if I did so. I concluded that it would be better to let him carry it. Father was used to carrying luggage anyway. He was stronger and more skilled than me in these matters. I had never got used to physical labour having stayed in hostels right from my childhood. So, inspite of my youth and strength, I was physically useless. I continued walking silently with father. We rested at two places on the way and had our tiffin but we hardly talked. Finally we reached Dirang. The bus from Tawang had not yet reached Dirang and so we had sometime in hand. We entered a tea shop and sat facing each other. Father appeared tired. I felt sorry for him but couldn't bring myself to say anything. I asked the waiter to get us two cups of tea. Just as I was going to take my first sip, I heard father's voice, "Do you have a pair of old shoes?" Why I asked. "The road is uneven and full of pebbles. It hurts while walking".

Q.(8-12) Read the following passage.

Outside Mr. Nana's front are three large empty drums, the bright red paint now flaking away, but the skull and crossbones symbol clearly visible on each. And in a clearing 200 m way from the village, next to a stream that the villagers get their drinking water from, is an enormous pyramid of identical drums, reaching to the sky. Some of them are badly corroded, their slimy contents of various colours - grey, dark green, bright orange, etc. leaking out down on to the baked African earth and into the stream. Some have fallen down and rolled - or been rolled by playful children - into the bush. Some are smoking in the midday heat. Some are swelling, as if their contents are bursting out. Some have already burst.

"They came on a Wednesday", said Sunday, "Many, many big lorries. They took all day unloading them. No one told us what was in them. They gave the chief a brown paper bag - I saw him smiling as the lorries drove away. This was five years ago. Then three months ago, one of the brightest boy in the village - Thomas Agonyo - started university in Lagos. He came home one weekend with a new Chemistry book, and spent all day looking at the drums and writing things down and talking to himself and shaking his head. We all thought he had gone mad. Then he called a meeting of the village and told us that the drums contained poisonous chemicals. He said they had come from Italy. But I don't know where that is. Is it in Europe”?

Once upon a time, son,
 they used to laugh with their hearts and laugh with their eyes :
 but now they only laugh with their teeth,
 while their ice - block - cold eyes search behind my shadow.

There was a time indeed
 they used to shake hands with their hearts :
 but that's gone, son.
 Now they shake hands without hearts :
 while their left hands search
 my empty pockets.

Feel at home ! come again :
 they say, and when I come again and feel
 at home, once, twice,
 there will be no thrice -
 for then I find doors shut on me.
